This is one of the world's few black lemur species, after which Fanamby's Black Lemur Camp is named. Other notable species include the Crowned Lemur, Ankarana Sportive Lemur and Milano Sportive Lemur, as well as the Bamboo Lemur. Land at Ankarana Lodge and take a 4x4 transfer to the National Park for a guided hike. Lemurs (Crowned and Ankarana Sportive), chameleons and leaf-tailed geckos can be found in Ankarana's dry, deciduous forests. TSINGY ROUGE

Tsingy Rouge is a photogenic phenomenon. An unusual natural geological formation of red laterite, a type of stone and soil rich in iron and other minerals. The 'Lavaka' were caused by the erosion of the Irodo River, leaving behind soft strata with magnificent red and white formations. A hidden gem, where the beauty is also that you are unlikely to find many other visitors. The excursion involves a short gentle walk and is great on its own, or combined with another excursion on the way back to Miavana.

- + Approx. flying time: 50 minutes
- + Approx. duration of the entire excursion: 2 hours
- + Fitness level: Low

FLORIBIS GUIDED TOUR

Floribis offers a rare opportunity to understand the complexities of vanilla production on an in-depth tour of one of the world's premier plantations, following their production process from pollination of the flowers through to drying of the beans. Vanilla is truly a fascinating product and Madagascar is the world's largest producer of this valuable crop. An additional attraction is the sophisticated on-site production of essential oils for perfumery.

BAOBABS

Known in Malagasy as “Reniala” meaning “Mother of the Forest”, baobabs are an ancient and majestic species endemic to Madagascar. Threatened by habitat loss and in danger of disappearing, they fortunately can still be witnessed in abundance in a remote part of Northern Madagascar near Antanivelatra. Enjoy an immersive nature walk while learning about this endangered species and stop for refreshments in the shade of one of these towering trees. Surely there can be no better tree for a bucket-list picnic than a baobab.
